Kylie Reynolds leverages her experience as a litigator to efficiently and attentively approach appellate issues.

Kylie joined GMSR after working at a large, international law firm, where she represented clients in high-profile trust and estate disputes across California. She is well-versed in all stages of civil litigation and draws on that knowledge to thoughtfully advise and represent GMSR's clients. Kylie previously served as a federal judicial law clerk in the Central District of California, and represented indigent clients in post-conviction criminal matters.

Kylie graduated from UCLA School of Law. She was elected to the Order of the Coif, served as a Senior Editor on the UCLA Law Review, and participated in the Supreme Court Clinic. Prior to law school, Kylie worked as a legal journalist.
