Cindy Tobisman is a Co-Managing Partner of Greines, Martin, Stein & Richland. During her many years specializing in appeals at GMSR, she has briefed and argued virtually every type of civil case. The only constants are her deep knowledge of appellate practice, her rigorous research, her careful record review, her creativity and her top-notch writing skills.

Cindy's excellence as an appellate attorney has been repeatedly recognized. She received the President's Award from the Beverly Hills Bar Association for her work on amicus briefs in the California Supreme Court on appellate issues of public interest. She's been regularly included on the Super Lawyers and Best Lawyers' lists of top appellate attorneys.

Cindy graduated Phi Beta Kappa from U.C. Berkeley in 1992, and was also named the top graduate in her department (Rhetoric). She subsequently attended U.C. Berkeley School of Law (J.D., 1998), serving on the prestigious Moot Court Board, focused on appellate advocacy. She has sat on the Board of Governors of the Beverly Hills Bar Association and has chaired the Association's Amicus Briefs Committee.

In addition to practicing law, Cindy is a traditionally published novelist. She won the 2018 Harper Lee Prize for Legal Fiction for her second novel, "Proof."
